Build Your Beef Empire

There has been no better time to enter the beef industry than now, and if you'd like to dip your toes in the water at ground level, then this 8.9 hectare (22 acres) alluvial block could be just the one for you! With rich, fertile soils, kikuyu and clover pastures and subdivided into several paddocks, this block is capable of fattening steers or rearing top line vealers, and has a high carrying capacity. Dwelling entitlement, stockyards with steel crush, town water and only a few minutes to town - a great starter block or perfect to complement an upriver holding.
